New in town: Chapman bags

Quintessential Brit brand Chapman Bags, famous for making beautiful, hand-crafted bags, will launch in Harvey Nichols next month. Key styles include the flyfisher (£129), a contemporary take on a classic men's shoulder bag, the large city rucksack (£199), ideal for cycling or commuting around town, and the medium classic holdall (£159), which is perfect for weekend getaways. The bags are made with canvas sourced just a few miles from the Chapman Bags factory in Cumbria. Chief executive officer Daniel Chamier says: 'There's strong demand for made-in-England products right now. Customers understand that authentic English companies such as Chapman offer a completely different experience to one of the mass-produced global brands.' So what is that experience? 'To own and wear an original piece of enduring quality at an affordable price,' he says. 'Nuff said.' www.chapmanbags.com
