Chapman, the large city rucksack

Posted by admin on 2/24/11 • Categorized as HDI

A bag is not something you use up and wear out like you would a pair of jeans or a tee-shirt, hopefully its gonna stick around for a while and become part of the family, evolving into a lasting symbol of memorable holidays or illicit weekends away. Either that or it's just a really handy bit of kit to stick all your bits and bobs into every-day instead of loading down your coat pockets with ipads, George Orwell books, rounders bats and high quality Greek olive oil. Well whatever a bag means to you, if you want one that is hand crafted in the Lake District with quality details such as double stitched zips, military grade cotton webbing and solid brass fastenings, then it's pretty likely you need a Chapman city rucksack.
