(capsule) Paris | John Chapman “Falconer” Bag Autumn 2011

24 January 2011, 19.00 | Posted in Accessories | No comments »

It seem like all forms of outdoorsmen bags have gotten the once over but John Chapman looks to have discovered a few untouched items. Their Falconer bag takes the traditional two-sided bird trainers bag and customizes it to house an iPad and more. The strap can be centered for easy spin on the hip bag. Or double on the ends and wear it as a traditional “mapper.”. It's available in tan and parajumper green. Seen at (capsule) Paris.

More looks after the click.
